

WP 4 MAPPING AND ASSESSING RECEPTION POLICIES, – PRACTICES AND HUMANITARIAN RESPONSES

This WP focuses on reception policies, practices and humanitarian responses to the current refugee crisis. Despite efforts to achieve harmonization (especially promoted by the 2016 CEAS and by the ENP), relevant differences exist in this field in the countries that are the object of research (Austria, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Poland, Sweden, UK, Turkey and Lebanon). These variations contribute to secondary movements and asylum shopping, create tensions and nationalistic policies and implement inefficient and discriminatory reception policies. WP4 will fulfil five ancillary, but very relevant, objectives:

- to develop a mapping of policies and practices of reception in the countries being researched;
- to develop a typology of these policies, practices and responses;
- to assess the coherence of these policies and practices with respect to international and EU standards and regulations as they are assessed by WP1;
- to study migrants' perceptions, actions and reactions to policies and practices; and
- to provide basic information in the area of reception for the development of all subsequent WPs.

Deliverables

- 10 country reports
- Reception policy and practices typology
- Comparative report on reception policies
- Standardized dataset
